

SWANN AND TALLEY MAKE PEACE WITH THE GRAND JURY

Accept Invitation to Enter
Room Where Interborough
Inquiry Is Being Conducted.

MORE TRAINS RUNNING.

Lexington Ave. Sub and Ninth
Ave. "L" Service Improved
Through Evening World.

Peace—or at least a truce—appeared to have been established today between District Attorney Swann and the Extraordinary Grand Jury.

Mr. Swann and Assistant District Attorney Talley went to the Grand Jury room and sent in a message saying they would come in if wanted. They were invited and entered. A few minutes later a messenger came out and summoned Frank Hedley, Vice President and General Manager of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, and he went in.

These incidents were interpreted to mean that the Grand Jury and the District Attorney were again working together in the investigation of the interborough's campaign for higher fares. Last Friday the Grand Jury went before Justice Weeks and asked for the appointment of an outside lawyer to help in the interborough investigation.

When Mr. Hedley came out he said the Grand Jury was through with him "as far as I know."

Mr. Swann said after leaving the Grand Jury room:

"We questioned Mr. Hedley at length, and so did some of the grand jurors. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow with other witnesses who will be selected by the Grand Jury itself. The District Attorney's office will not submit any names of witnesses, but will merely offer advice and assistance. The Grand Jury itself will take the initiative."

Mr. Swann was asked whether he planned, as had been reported, to remove certain men from the Grand Jury.

"I'd like to find the man who invented that statement," he said.

The victory of The Evening World in the movement for better service and fewer transfers in the subway and on the elevated lines became visible today when orders of Public Service Commissioner Nixon went into effect on the Lexington Avenue subway and Ninth Avenue elevated lines. Until today northbound Lexington Avenue subway trains ended their runs at 167th Street. Beginning this morning alternate trains over this route ran in the rush hours through to Kingsbridge Road.

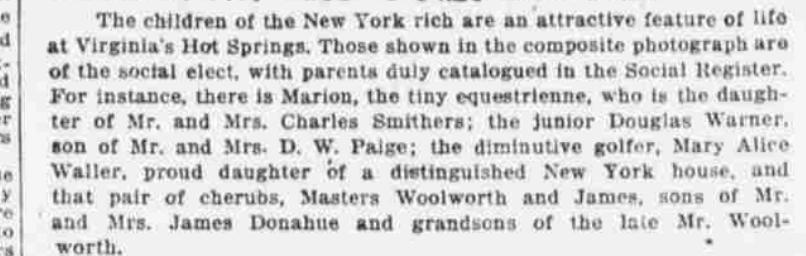

Under the same order Ninth Avenue elevated trains, which have run only as far as Kingsbridge Road and there transferred Woodlawn passengers to a shuttle train, in the rush hours went through to Woodlawn without any change of cars.

Both extensions of service are effective between 6 and 9 in the morning and 5 and 7 in the evening. Until today a passenger starting for Woodlawn from Brooklyn Bridge Subway Station has traveled subway to 167th Street, transferred there to the Ninth Avenue Elevated and shifted at Kingsbridge Road to the shuttle train. The order follows the insistent demand of The Evening World for better service and fewer transfers after complaint from readers of this newspaper. The Evening World placed

Life at Hot Springs Made Picturesque By Children of New York Society Folk

MISS MARION SMITHERS

MISS MARY ALICE WALLER

The children of the New York rich are an attractive feature of life at Virginia's Hot Springs. Those shown in the composite photograph are of the social elite, with parents duly catalogued in the Social Register. For instance, there is Marion, the tiny equestrienne, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smithers; the junior Douglas Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Paige; the diminutive golfer, Mary Alice Waller, proud daughter of a distinguished New York house, and that pair of cherubs, Masters Woolworth and James, sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Donahue and grandsons of the late Mr. Woolworth.

A number of these complaints before the Public Service Commission and called its witnesses. Hearings were held and in the beginning the proposition was opposed by the traction companies. Ultimately General Manager Hedley signed the agreement. The discontinuance of the 3-cent transfer arrangement between the Interborough subway system and the Bronx cross-town line at the intersection of Broadway and 181st Street was debated today before Public Service Commissioner Nixon by Assistant Corporation Counsel Victory and attorneys for the companies. It is the desire of the railway companies to abolish the transfer privilege at this point forthwith. Mr. Victory argued that it was up to the companies to show proof that they were losing money by the practice.

Commissioner Nixon said the Corporation Counsel might have until Friday to study the financial aspect of the situation and show that the practice has not been followed at a financial loss. Mr. Nixon intimated that unless this can be shown the discontinuance order will issue.

Both extensions of service are effective between 6 and 9 in the morning and 5 and 7 in the evening. Until today a passenger starting for Woodlawn from Brooklyn Bridge Subway Station has traveled subway to 167th Street, transferred there to the Ninth Avenue Elevated and shifted at Kingsbridge Road to the shuttle train. PROCESS BUTTER MAN A FRIEND OF JOHN H. MCCOY

Investigation Into State Agriculture Department Shows Amazing Situation.

What purported to be photographic copies of letters between well-known politicians and State Commissioner of Agriculture Huse, and members of his staff were read into the records today at the investigation of the Agricultural Department by George Gordon Battle, as special commissioner.

The letters, it appeared in testimony, had been brought by Raymond Smith to Mrs. E. M. Hock, a photographer, Percy P. Griffin, an attorney who offered the photographs in evidence, said he had been told that the originals had been stolen from the photographer's by burglars.

An alleged letter from State Senator William J. Hoffman to Commissioner Calvin D. Huse referred to a case against Antonio and Dora Castellini of No. 397 Third Avenue, Brooklyn. The parties were alleged to have sold impure olive oil. "I trust," the letter said, "you will do your utmost to have this case taken off the record."

"My Dear Senator," read a reply dated Aug. 7, 1914. "Commissioner Huse requests me to say to you that the case against Antonio and Dora Castellini of No. 397 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, will not be prosecuted as it has been discontinued."

Another letter indicated that John H. McCoy was active on behalf of his constituents. This letter, dated Aug. 1, 1914, and written on the letterhead of the Democratic Executive Committee of Kings County, said:

"My Dear Commissioner: Allow me to transmit for your information a notice which was served on Mr. Henry Holtzman of 1513 Broadway, Brooklyn, calling for the remittance of $50 as a penalty for having sold process butter which was not branded as required by the statutes."

"I do not believe he would intentionally commit an infraction of the agricultural laws and I am informed he has already taken steps to remedy existing conditions. This being his first offense (I notice none other is recorded in your office) I will graciously appreciate any courtesy you can properly extend to the end that the action mentioned in this transaction may be discontinued by mutual agreement. With best wishes, etc."

The reply, purporting to be by Deputy Commissioner H. E. Cole, was also read into the record:

"Dear Mr. McCoy: On my return this morning from the State Fair and other meetings I found your letter of the first instant. You may inform Mr. Henry Holtzman of No. 1513 Broadway, Brooklyn, that he need pay no further attention to the penalty letter dated July 1, 1914 and signed by G. L. Flinders, counsel of this department. The case has been discontinued."

Another letter, alleged to have been signed by Cole suggested that the Deputy Commissioner was selling lists of names of producing farmers to Swift & Co.

Australian flight started French aviator's first attempt failed owing to weather.

MISSY-LES-MOULINEAUX, France, Oct. 14.—Aviator Poulet started at 7:14 o'clock this morning on his flight to Australia. He was sighted over Troyes at 9 o'clock.

On his first attempt to start on his flight last Sunday, he met adverse weather conditions and was forced to return to his airframe here.

KING OF BELGIUM TO TALK FROM FRISCO TO NEW YORK

Circuit to Be Set Over 3,500 Miles
With 25 Sets of Head Pieces.

Arrangements were completed here today by the New York Telephone Company for a long distance telephone call to be made early to-morrow morning between the King of Belgium and his party in San Francisco and Belgian officials here.

The circuit will be set up over 3,500 miles of clear copper wire at 1 o'clock to-morrow morning, local time, which will be 10 o'clock to-night, Pacific time. Belgian officials will talk from a special set equipped with twenty-five head pieces to be placed in a room in the Waldorf Astoria. The call will be given the right of way over all other telephone traffic.

The King has expressed a desire to talk to Pierre Mail, Belgian Consul at New York, and to the head of the Belgian Financial Mission, which recently arrived in this country. Mrs. Nye, wife of the special agent of the State Department accompanying the royal party, will also talk with her husband.

Both extensions of service are effective between 6 and 9 in the morning and 5 and 7 in the evening. Until today a passenger starting for Woodlawn from Brooklyn Bridge Subway Station has traveled subway to 167th Street, transferred there to the Ninth Avenue Elevated and shifted at Kingsbridge Road to the shuttle train. FACE OF GIRL SLASHED ON HER WAY TO SCHOOL

Young Man Accused of Attacking
Fourteen-Year-Old Miss Who Jilted Him.

Carl Innocelli, twenty-three years old, of No. 2422 Arthur Avenue, the Bronx, was today held in $3,000 bail by Magistrate Kotschendorfer of the Long Island City Police Court, on a charge of slashing the face of a pretty Angeline Deofores, a fourteen-year-old school girl of No. 33 Paynter Avenue, Long Island City.

It was alleged that Innocelli had been the girl's sweetheart, but that she had told him to cease his attentions. This morning, as the girl was on her way to Public School No. 7, Innocelli waited for her three blocks from her home, and as she approached, drew a razor and slashed her face, cutting a deep gash through her left cheek. The girl screamed and two policemen chased and captured Innocelli.

The girl was taken to St. John's Hospital, where it was said she would recover.

$10,000 WORTH OF FURS LEADS TO ARREST OF TWO

Laborer and Salesman, Both From Chicago, Say They Bought
Goods in Poolroom.

Even in these days of high wages the possession of $10,000 worth of furs by Edward Bush, who described himself as a laborer from Chicago, led to his arrest this morning at the Union Square Hotel. With him was arrested Ernest Levy, also from Chicago, who described himself as a salesman.

Detective Dunlop of 121st Street station took the men into custody after Curt Bauchwitz, No. 292 East 13th Street, told him they had left the furs in his custody. Bauchwitz, who said he was a waiter, was held by the police. Dunlop found the furs through information that a number of trunks had been taken to No. 129 East 14th Street and later removed to the 131st Street address.

LEADING FLYERS REFUSE TO RETURN TO PACIFIC BY AIR

Major Spatz and Lieut. Kiel
Say They Will Probably Go by Rail.

Major Carl Spatz and Lieut. E. C. Kiel, aviators, who reached Roosevelt Field, Mineola, Saturday evening in the army's cross-continent flight test, came out flat to-day with the assertion that they would not carry out the programme which required them to fly back to San Francisco, starting between to-morrow morning and Friday morning.

Major Spatz exhibited the orders he received at San Francisco, which directed him, with fifteen others, to proceed by aeroplane to Roosevelt Field, stopping at twenty specified control points and ending "on reporting at Roosevelt Field; they will return by rail to their home stations. The travel directed is necessary in the military service."

These were his only orders, Major Spatz said, and he intended to abide by them unless his request to return over a southern route by air, moving at his own discretion, was granted. Lieut. Kiel said he was of the same mind.

Captain Lowell H. Smith, who arrived yesterday, said he intended to make the return trip as specified in the latest programme and welcomed the chance to prove he could cross the United States faster in an airplane than Lieut. E. W. Maynard, the Flying Parson. Though Smith's leg showed he was in the air between San Francisco and New York thirty minutes less than Maynard, he was penalized for landing in the wrong spot in Cleveland and not reaching the official control until four hours after he first came to earth in that city.

Lieut. A. S. Worthington, who arrived yesterday, said he intended to conform to the latest announcement of the plans for the race. Lieut. Queens, another of yesterday's arrivals, did not commit himself.

Col. Angelle Miller, commanding the Long Island group of flying fields, said he had no doubt that all the aviators would carry out the latest official programme.

"They had a hard trip, trying on the horses, and they are inclined to talk with more freedom than they would normally," he said. "But whatever the original orders, those orders have now been changed and they will obey those orders of face court martial charges. I think they will show themselves good soldiers and fly on time."

Lieut. Maynard was reported from San Francisco ready to start East at 1:12 (Pacific time) from San Francisco.

Maynard has announced that he will seek army permission on his return to Mineola to try a cross continent flight on his own schedule, with but one or two stops, using his own design of a D-4 with "streamline" wings and struts, decreasing air resistance.

Of the flyers who started from Roosevelt Field, Capt. Drayton, Capt. Harry Smith, Capt. Donaldson, Lieut. Morgenson and Lieut. Webster reached San Francisco yesterday. Five other westbound flyers were within a day's air journey of the Pacific coast.

Omaha reported that the Martin bomber, the largest machine made in the United States, which was being piloted by Lieut. Roy N. Francis, in which Lieut. de Lavergne, air-attaché of the French Embassy, was one of the four passengers, was smashed thirty miles east of Omaha this morning. Francis went astray in a dense fog and in attempting to make a landing was tripped by telegraph wires. Francis and his passengers were severely shaken.

STATEN ISLAND GIRL PLANS MEALS FOR 1,000 IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

MISS DOROTHY CHAPMAN

Miss Chapman, Cornell Graduate, Given Charge of Treasury Lunchroom.

Miss Dorothy Chapman of Heberton Avenue, Port Richmond, Staten Island, who recently graduated with a large class in home economics at Cornell University, has been given charge of the lunchroom in the Treasury Building at Washington.

The lunchroom, operated by the Federal Red Cross, was started by Mrs. William McAdoo and Mrs. Carter Glass, in an effort to bring down the high cost of living and serves nourishing lunches to 1,000 Government employees daily.

Miss Chapman, who is only twenty-two years old, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Newton D. Chapman.

SAYS STENOGRAPHERS KNOW MORE THAN MAGISTRATES

One Court Makes This Admission
in Advocating Plea for Increased Pay.

The stenographers of the Magistrates' Courts, who recently applied for an increase in salary, apparently have the support of the Magistrates. Magistrate Joseph H. Schwab, writing to the Board of Estimate as President of the Real Estate Owners' Protective Association, says:

"In many cases it is not too much to say that they possess equal, if not greater knowledge than that of the Magistrates. This applies especially to the new Magistrates."

Magistrate House is a champion of their cause, saying that they are the hardest worked stenographers in any court, and that they are underpaid. The present salary of $2,100 is entirely inadequate and is not proportionate to the work done according to the stenographers. They desire an increase to $2,500.

BURGLARS LOOT SAFES AND LEAVE AN EMPTY BOTTLE

Travel From Floor to Floor of Office Building, Taking
Cash and Bonds.

Thorough and scientific burglary of the five upper floors of the business building at Nos. 230-234 West Seventeenth Street some time between last Saturday afternoon and Monday morning became known to-day without the aid or consent of the police, who have been visiting the place from time to time since and suggesting that the less tenants said on the subject the better.

The door on each of the landings of the upper floors had been attacked, apparently with an electric drill, taking power from the electric light socket on the landing. Each lock had been bored out in the same manner and the door pried open with a steel bar. The following casualties were listed:

Eighth Floor—Richard N. Kraus, embossed seals, one safe opened, $35 in cash taken; $1,000 in gold leaf overlooked, office papers scattered broadcast.

Seventh Floor—Storeroom, Owl Drug Company, one elixir bottle taken.

Sixth Floor—Edward Usefalia Company, lithographers; safe opened, $100 Liberty Bond, a gold watch and $100 in cash taken; papers scattered all over the floor.

Fifth Floor—Office, Owl Drug Company; one small safe rifled; one attacked, but intact; statement of losses withheld. Papers torn and scattered.
